It is announced that Ebenezer church society will build a rear addition, 10x46 feet in size, to the church on the north side of Calhoun street, between Beaubien and Antoine streets; add a vestibule in front, besides otherwise improving the building, and will also remodel and improve the parsonage which adjoins the church.
All who attended the opening of Mrs. Jones' and Mrs. Brewer's ice cream parlors last Tuesday evening were more than paid for their presence. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brewer in their cordial and genial manner made it pleasant for the large number present. During the evening various parlor and social games were indulged in and a highly enjoyable evening was spent.
Several days ago a rough and tumble fight was indulged in on Croghan street near Brush. Three or four white men attacked an Afro-American, when one of the party of white men, named McCulloch stepped forward to interfere, as he thought the Afro-American was getting abused. At this the crowd jumped on McCulloch and gave him a terrible beating. McCulloch's face and throat were badly cut by the free use of the butt of a revolver. The police were sent for and two men named Egan and Gillette arrested, each of whom was fined $17 and costs at the police court next morning. William Considine who it is alleged was the man who struck McCulloch with the revolver, was arraigned at the police court on a charge of assault and battery. He was released on bail, pending examination.

Glances Here and There.

It has often been said of certain people that they are not worth the powder and lead to blow them to purgatory, or some other place several degrees warmer. The truth of the statement is being verified daily in a large number of cases. Just about one-third of our young men read any standard literature, and about one-half of the remaining two thirds never read more than scandal papers or the record of crime and sport in our metropolitan journals. While the remaining half do not read at all. No one who has not been bored by an empty head with a chattering tongue can properly realize what a bore an ignorant though fresh young man can be. At present our girls are far in advance of the boys in educational acquirements, and they do by far the most reading; how they can tolerate the poll parrot chattering of their beaux of the present, is a conundrum. Their whole conversation consists in a few pert street gamin sayings, mixed oftentimes with language of immoral leaning. There are many readers of THE PLAIN DEALER in this city who are not subscribers, yet two-thirds of these borrowers or dead head readers know nothing of the news it contains outside the local column. Such people believe and are always asserting, as if they were in some doubt about it, that they are as good as anybody, while the fact is they are worse than nobody.

ALTHOUGH it is said that the course of true love never does run smooth, it is usually supposed difficulties vanish after the wedding and that they live happily, if not ever afterwards at least through the honeymoon period. But the erratic proceedings of a young lady in the North eastern part of the city, has proven to at least one hapless young groom, that you cannot always be sure of the bird in hand. This young couple were merrily and happily married, but the wedding bells had scarcely ceased ringing when the young bride gathered all her goods together and with her many beautiful presents packed her trunks and flitted. And now it is an open question whether or not the groom believes.

'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

If you are a beauty and have eleven beautiful friends, you can have a "vanity luncheon." And if you and they have caught on to the astrological fad and had your fate and colors told, the hue of the gowns worn should be your "astral colors." The table decorations are generally yellow, because yellow blends with nearly all other colors, and the conversation turns entirely on physical beauty and the art of retaining it, each guest being expected to contribute an item of information on this vital subject. The menu should consist of the lightest, daintiest delicacies, the favors may be small, hand glass mirrors, so placed that each beauty can find delight in the charms of her own lovely face, and if you believe as a wily bachelor of my acquaintance professes to believe, that all women are beautiful, you need not be too much worried over the personnel of your guests.

YOU cannot properly enjoy your piazza chair this season unless its substantial frame is decorated more or less. You are not limited to any special mode, but may let your fancy run wild on downy head and shoulder cushions, dainty bows, and designs in hand painting, wherever they can be placed. Then if you have secured one of the really comfortable hammock pillows which are among the season's novelties and are pleased with your negligee robe, lay in a supply of light summer reading and a liberal allowance of tea à la Russe and reach the acme of bliss, by inviting as a witness to these summer comforts, some work a day friend to whom fate has denied these "dear delights."

It would require no little credulity to believe that any one would carry an umbrella in a driving rain and not make use of it. Yet that is just what really happened during that heavy thunderstorm one evening last week. Two young ladies on their way from a friends house, were protecting themselves as best they could from the storm, with an umbrella, when one of them, who was dreadfully afraid of lightning, all at once remembered that she had been told never to hold an umbrella over you during a storm as the steel ribs attracted electricity. And the dear silly things, apprehensive of instant annihilation, closed their umbrellas and walked the remainder of the distance home in the rain.

The Gilmore Concerts.

The Gilmore concerts given Monday and Tuesday were well attended, and judging from the reception of most of the numbers by the audiences, they caught the popular taste, though musical critics rather deprecated the noise and blare of the instruments and the selection of hackneyed compositions. The choruses rendered by the school children and Musical Society were excellent features of the concerts and the solos were well received.

The only hotel barber shop in the city now controlled by Afro-American barbers is that of Brown and Dye in the Griswold House, but they having recently sold out to an Italian and will give him possession of the shop in a few days. George Ailing and Othello Miller, both made offers for the shop and lease, the former it is said offering to pay as much as anyone but was not successful in securing it. The terms of the sale were not made public.

OUR SOUTHERN FRIENDS

Object to Afro-American Census Enumerators.

Our poor sensitive Southern friends are wounded some more. This time 'tis the Afro-American census enumerator who by Uncle Sam's instruction are according to the Times-Democrat "invading their homes and insisting upon knowing domestic details—whether the ladies of the family are afflicted with any feminine complaints or diseases, and how much the father of the family owes on his house. To choose rough plantation darkies for this work in districts where the population is almost entirely white, is an insult to the latter race which, we fear, will be resented."

If these delicate ladies resent the performance of the census taker's duty, they will probably be allowed to pay the cost of this resentment in fines or imprisonment. The tender susceptibilities which allowed them to subsist on the proceeds of the sale of their brothers and sisters, to hear unmoved the groans of their foster-mothers who mourned for their children without comfort and witness, unmoved the lacerated backs of the family bread winners will not be allowed to obstruct the machinery of this government to any great extent. A little common sense would prove a very effective cure for most of the Southern ills and the sooner they lay in a stock the less ridiculous they will appear.

ABOUT PERSONS AND THINGS.

Mr. William Porter of Cincinnati, recently purchased a $1700 carriage.

Mr. John S. Durham, of Philadelphia, lately appointed consul for San Domingo sails for that port June 19.

Miss Ida Gray of Cincinnati, O., graduates from the Dental department of the Michigan University, this month.

Lincoln University, Chester county, Pa., a Presbyterian institution for Afro-American youth, has received nearly $60,000 in bequests this year.

There are nine night schools in Chattanooga, for the purpose of teaching aged Afro-Americans to read so they may be able to vote under the new law.

Another weekly published in the interests of the race has made its appearance at Philadelphia. It is called "The Weekly Traveler," and is controlled by W. W. Taylor.

Bud Wright, who was on trial at Liberty, Kentucky, for the murder of Alonzo Brown (white), was shot in the court room by Brown's brother on Saturday. Wright was fatally wounded.

Explorer Stanley is accompanied to all parties and duties by a native African boy called Sali. He is about 18 years old speaks English and is a genial fellow with a bright eye and a pleasant smile.

In the account given in a recent issue of THE PLAIN DEALER, of an entertainment held at the Second Baptist church in Ann Arbor, May 14, the name of Miss Beulah Johnson, vocalist and pianist was unintentionally omitted from the program. This is especially to be regretted, from the fact that her services were greatly appreciated and added much to the pleasure of the evening.

A Decoration day orator at Memphis, Tenn., gave his hearers some straight truth on the color problem, remarking of the black people of the South, that they are "much better qualified to exercise the elective franchise than the masses of Italians, Bohemians, Poles and Austrians who are now being dumped upon our shores, knowing nothing of our civil institutions or language."

The Industrial Department of the Institute for colored youths of Philadelphia held its closing exhibition on the evening of May 26. The classes have pursued printing, tailoring, bricklaying, plastering, carpentering, dressmaking, millinery and cooking. Some eighty pupils have been given lessons in the branches and have shown great aptitude in their studies. The exhibition continued until Wednesday and the school closed Friday for the season.

(Brief items of news will be welcome from either pastors or laymen.)

A parsonage is to be built for St. Augustine Catholic church, Washington, D. C. at a cost of $10,000.

The Mt. Zion Baptist church at Oakland Station, Ky., is in a prosperous condition, the congregation having recently completed the erection of a neat frame building at a cost of $600.

A beautiful little brick church, erected at Winston, N. C., was dedicated recently by Bishop Harris of the Zion M. E. church. The lot on which the building stands cost $300 and was the generous gift of Prof. Goler who also did a large portion of the work himself.

The members of Ebenezer church, Boston, held a special thanksgiving service, Sunday, June 5, in which they dedicated their church anew, entirely free from debt. The edifice was appropriately decorated and prominent among those present was the Hon. Mr. Hart, the mayor.

The Rev. T. H. Burwell who is postmaster at Kittrell, North Carolina, is a busy and successful pastor. He has charge of four Baptist churches, and is a property holder of some prominence. Mr. Burwell is anxious to leave his work to help his less fortunate brothers in Africa.

A communication appeared in the last issue of the American Baptist, signed by the ministers of the Baptist and Methodist churches of Shelbyville, Ky., which unsparsingly condemned Sunday excursions as being detrimental to the elevation of the race in morals intelligence and religion.

The pastors of the Presbyterian churches of Charleston, S. C., are preparing to hold a quarto-centennial celebration of the organization of Presbyterianism among the race in that vicinity. The centennial will be held July 20 and 21, in the Zion Presbyterian church, as it is the oldest of the several churches. Distinguished ministers of this denomination, from various places in the South, are expected to be present and an excellent program is promised.

The Rev. W. Curtis who is engaged in missionary work in Alabama lectured Sunday evening at the Pilgrim Congregational church Minneapolis on "Voices from the Black Belt." In the course of his lecture he said, "Slavery is dead in the letter, but not in the spirit. State laws have been made so stringent that the black man's condition is far worse than when he was in actual bondage. That only when the Negro has been properly educated and given a white man's chance, will light break in upon the midnight darkness of the 'black belt.'"

Visited By The Bishop.

GRAND RAPIDS, June 11.

Last Sabbath will be a day long to be remembered by the little folks, it being Childrens Day at Spring street A. M. E. church. The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens, flowers and birds. The pulpit was filled at 10:30 a. m., by the pastor. At 3 o'clock the program for the occasion was well carried out, and what made it more interesting, Bishop J. M. Brown was present and addressed the school and preached in the evening. The Bishop also delivered a lecture Monday evening subject, the South. He left for Jackson Tuesday, and from there will visit Ypsilanti and Detroit. The Bishop was entertained Monday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Goings. The Bishop was much pleased with the appearance of our city he having seen more of it than ever through the kindness of Mr. Thomas Wright who drove him through the city with his horse and carriage.—The entertainment given for the benefit of Rev. J. V. Givins was a success financially and netted $61.20. We are proud to say that the Elder is improving in health.—The entertainment given by the ladies of the Eastern Star was a success.—Miss Jennie Ramsey was the winner of the fan.—The members of the Messiah Baptist are much delighted with the lot they have purchased at the cost of $2,000. They expect to build soon.—Rev. J. O. Williams filled the pulpit Sabbath evening. The Sabbath question has become one of great interest among us it is the subject of conversation on the street and in every corner.—On the account of the pressure of business our short correspondent will be looked over by those interested. I will be more perfect in my communications as soon as rushing business ceases.—For the information of the ministers of the A. M. E. church I will say that the Michigan Conference will be held in Saginaw September 9th.—Indiana Conference at New Albany, Ind., August 27. J. H. A.

It has long been known that the cause of curly hair on man or beast is the firm, thick integument surrounding the hair follicles. It has also been discovered that Yucca Baccata (Spanish Bayonet) contains a medical property that will relax this integument and stimulate hair to grow long, straight and luxuriant. I have succeeded in combining this medical property with three bland emollients, making an elegant dressing, containing all the wonderful properties of the plant, and it will make any hair grow straight. I have given it the name of "Baccata," and put the price within the reach of all. $1 per box, $5 per half dozen.
