Four-year fields of study grow to nineteen

A recent decision by the faculty of Michigan Christian College brought the institution's number of four-year programs to nineteen, and the minor fields of study to twenty-four areas of instruction.

"This historic achievement reaffirms the college's commitment to providing quality liberal arts instruction from a distinctively Christian viewpoint," said Dr. Ken Johnson, president. "Now, more than ever, students are discovering they can attend a Christian college in the North and complete a bachelor's degree without transferring."

Every degree program at MCC is designed to prepare students for successful careers by combining quality academic instruction with practical job experience.

"Internships are required in every degree program," stated Dr. John Todd, assistant professor of political science. "Employers are now asking for more than graduates with diplomas in hand. They need men and women who have applied their undergraduate preparation through practical work experiences."

"Our programs are solid in academic content and practical work experiences, which is important to employers," noted Dean Larry Leslie. "At Michigan Christian College, your instructors not only prepare you for a good job. They also prepare you to be a good citizen and a positive voice for spiritual good by reinforcing traditional spiritual and family values."

Dean Leslie added, "That's a major reason why almost 400 students chose to be at Michigan Christian College this past year. With expanded programs, we're expecting enrollment to continue skyrocketing."

Popular new Warrior Cafe opens in renovated area of student center

Do you get hungry for a snack in the middle of the afternoon or in the evening? Do you enjoy visiting with your friends? If so, you are like a lot of college students! And the students of Michigan Christian College now have a new place to obtain snacks and visit with their friends.

Students and employees gathered in the lower level of the Utley Student Center on Friday, January 28, for the grand opening of the Warrior Cafe. Over semester break, workers had completely transformed the area into one of the most popular spots on the campus of Michigan Christian College.

During the afternoon hours, the cafe offers a variety of snacks, including fruit juices, fresh-baked cookies, popcorn, soft drinks, chips, candy, caramel corn, and ice cream. Additional items from a grill, including hamburgers, corn dogs, chicken nuggets, cheese sticks, stuffed jalapenos, fries, and pizza, are available during the evening hours.

The Warrior Cafe is flanked by two tall counters with stools. In addition to providing a place to eat, one functions as a service counter. The other divides the eating area from a carpeted area designed for watching a satellite-dish television. The eating area is filled with booths and tables, providing the students with a great place to relax and visit. The entire area has developed into a popular space for student interaction.

"Of all the renovations completed during the past two years, none have had a greater impact on daily student life," stated a former student. "The cafe has provided a great new focal point for campus social activity."

MCC ? Ask Me !!

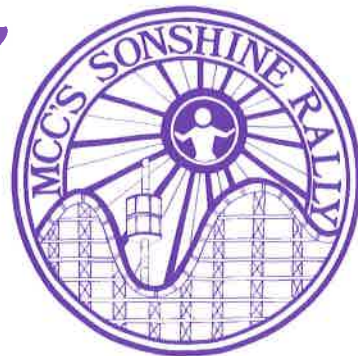

"I finished my first two years of college at a much larger institution in Illinois. I made lots of friends there, but felt that I didn't have many opportunities for student body leadership. I really felt the Lord leading me to Michigan Christian College because I attended high school with a couple of people who eventually came here. MCC was much closer to home, and I believed there would be involvement opportunities for me that I could never have at a large university. I also wanted to major in business, and MCC was able to offer that to me. I'm glad I made the switch."

Romeo, Michigan

Lori Campbell is a business management major who regularly appears on the Dean's List. She is president of SOS service club, and served two years on the yearbook staff. In February of this year, she was honored by the student body as a senior representative on the 1994 Homecoming Court.

Students can perform to the max at MCC !

Students looking for opportunities to participate in vocal performance at college do not have to look far. As a matter of fact, all they have to do is try out for such activities at Michigan Christian College!

In addition to the scores of individuals who perform in Celebration in Song, over fifty-five students participate in three vocal performance groups at Michigan Christian College on a regular basis. Based upon the level of interest in such groups, a new choral ensemble is being planned for next academic year!

The A Cappella Chorus, the college's premiere choral ensemble for thirty-five years, travels over 3,000 miles annually. They perform at churches, youth rallies, and major regional events throughout the Midwest, Northeast, and Canada.

A favorite with both young and old audiences for twenty years, Autumn is the hottest source of inspiring contemporary gospel music from Michigan Christian College. Highly requested for their a cappella performances at youth rallies and summer camps, Autumn gives students the opportunity to not only develop and use vocal talent, but also to encourage and strengthen other Christians through their music.

MCC's newest group, Spectrum, gives a new twist to some old favorites. Singing from a repertoire of vintage and contemporary pop music in a show-choir style, Spectrum's sound is enhanced by taped instrumental accompaniment. In high demand for special youth programs, dinners, and other special events, Spectrum inspires audiences with the positive moral messages contained in their music.

Students interested in receiving specific information about any of the vocal performance groups should contact the Admissions Office at 1-800-521-6010. Significant scholarships are awarded to persons who successfully audition. Churches and youth leaders are encouraged to contact the Admissions Office to schedule any of the groups for special youth events.

Hostesses April Shepard and Joanna Young perform at the annual Celebration in Song.

Vocal Band scheduled for Summer Jam

Full swing into its third year, Summer Jam '94 is scheduled for June 19-23 on the campus of Michigan Christian College. AVB of Paris, Tennessee, will highlight the week's activities with a concert on Thursday evening. The exciting week will end with the annual MCC Sonshine Rally at Cedar Point Amusement Park in Sandusky, Ohio.

Jim Calkin, director of Summer Jam, reports that attendance this year is expected to reach between 150 and 200 students. "We've grown steadily in the first two years, from 50 participants in 1992, to over 100 in 1993," said Calkin. High school students in attendance last summer came from as far as Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Ontario, Canada.

Hosted by the MCC Admissions Office, Summer Jam blends spiritual growth and development with fun and enjoyment. Summer Jam events include small group discussions, keynote speakers, special concerts, service projects, and recreational activities. MCC students serve as group leaders. Guest speakers for this year's program include youth ministers from three Churches of Christ in Michigan, Vic Bliss of Trenton, Mark Brackney of Rochester, and Ryan Gibbons of Midland.

Students and teen group leaders who are interested in attending Summer Jam '94 should contact Jim Calkin in the Admissions Office at 1-800-521-6010.
