Gene Fletcher Living a Life of Love

"Many women have done excellently, but you surpass them all. Charm is deceitful, beauty is vain, but a woman who fears the Lord is to be praised. Give her the fruit of her hands and let her works praise her in the gates."

Proverbs 31: 29-31

Gene Fletcher, wife of Michigan Christian College President Milton B. Fletcher, passed from this earth on October 11 after a fourteen-year battle with cancer, the last three being very intense.

Gene's life was one of service to others. She was a vital part of the lives of many from the time she and her husband first moved from Dallas, Texas, to Rochester, Michigan, in January 1961, with their four small children, Eric, Keith, Paul and Phyllis.

She worked with the Associates of MCC, was an active member of the Rochester Church of Christ and still found time to reach out to the community, such as being a part of a volunteer patterning team for a small child with cerebral palsy.

After eleven years in Michigan, the Fletchers moved back to Texas where Milton served as Vice President for Public Relations and Development at Abilene Christian University.

WHILE IN Abilene, Gene joined the Women of ACU, a college support group; served as president of that group one year; and also worked part time with the University Church Christian Service Center, helping the underprivileged. At the same time, she lovingly cared for her mother who lived five years following a massive stroke.

When the Fletchers returned to MCC in 1980, Gene continued her work with the college, and, as the president's wife, served on the MCC Associates Board of Trustees. She also resumed her active role as a member of the Rochester Church of Christ. In February 1984, Gene was selected as Sweetheart of the Year by the MCC Men's Club. She looked upon her role as President Fletcher's wife as one of support and never a position of prominence.

Gene inspired goodness in others. She was a student of God's word and enjoyed reflecting on the scriptures. Long into Gene's final illness, she influenced her doctors and nurses and many of those who cared for her by her faith in God and the assurance of heaven.

Mrs. Milton B. Fletcher

GENE WILL be greatly missed but will continue to live in the hearts of all those who knew and loved her.

In her memory, friends have established the Gene Fletcher Endowed Scholarship Fund to assist students coming to MCC in future years. Several thousand dollars have already been contributed by friends all over the nation.

Gene's father, who served as an elder in the church in Abilene, died of cancer in 1963. In December 1981, her sister Lorna died of cancer and her sister Frances died of a heart attack. Gene's remaining sister, Mrs. Marie Atwood, resides with her husband in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Her only brother, Claud Henry Hunter, lives in Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Who's Who selected

The 1985 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges will include the names of 11 students from Michigan Christian College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Scholarship information

Effective next fall, substantial changes in the scholarship program of Michigan Christian College will become effective. These changes involve increased awards for those eligible for Academic and ACT Scholarships as well as a new Presidential Academic Scholarship.

Beginning in the fall, students will be able to receive larger Academic Scholarships based upon the following grade point averages in high school work: 3.00-3.33, $400 per year; 3.34-3.66, $600 per year; and 3.67-4.00, $800 per year. Academic Scholarships are renewable for returning students based upon college grades, so students may receive as much as $1,600 in Academic Scholarship funds during two years at MCC.

ACT Scholarship levels will also increase in the fall based upon the following composite

Salary Sharing Campaign

The 1984 Salary Sharing Campaign is drawing to a close. To date, over $190,000 has been pledged. The final phase of the program is now underway, and with its completion, the $240,000 goal could be met.

The initial direct mail portion of the campaign begins in early October, followed by the Phone-A-Visit program.

This year seventy-seven Michigan Christian College students participated in Phone-A-Visit. Fifty-one of these students had "$1,000 nights," a record over last year's number. Thirteen of these callers had five or more $1,000 nights.

Those reaching this goal were Judy Barbier, Jenny Carter, Meitre Clowney, Jesse Espinoza, Darren Maggard, Calvin Mann, Tracy Martinez, Ken Miller, Sandy Newell, Tim Pittman, Jim Pobuda, David Rainey and Ernie Seay.

"There is no way this campaign would be as successful as it is if it were not for the students," MCC President Milton B. Fletcher said in a chapel speech thanking the Phone-A-Visit callers. "It is tough, very tough to make call after call after call, but you did it, and you did a great job."

All of the pledges received during the campaign are for 1985. Some donors will be sending their contributions before the end of the 1984 calendar year. The thrust, however, is to get pledges to help during 1985.

Message from the President

Dear Friends,

As many of you already know, my beloved wife, Gene, of thirty-eight years, was relieved from her valiant struggle with cancer on October 11, 1984. We buried her in the Christian Memorial Estates Cemetery in Rochester on October 13.

Her funeral was a celebration of victory! Gene was an outstanding example of faith to all who watched her throughout the battle with this dreaded disease. She made an indelible impact on her nurses, her doctors and hundreds of others. She possessed an indescribable optimism that was contagious even in the shadow of pain and death. I was not aware of the magnitude of her impact until she was gone. So many letters, cards, and comments have come reminding me of actions and events I had forgotten or did not even know about. That magnetic influence is a powerful lesson to me and the children.

Each family member is so thankful that Gene no longer has to suffer. Like many of you who have experienced the loss of a mate, I can't adequately describe the feelings of loneliness — but there is no despair because I know she is at rest and at ease. There is no way I can measure the eternal value of her influence upon my life and the lives of the children. She was truly a "prize far above rubies," a Christian woman and mother worthy of praise even though she was embarrassed to be the focal point for praise of any kind. She was a quiet servant who had the ability to "walk with kings or walk with the lowly" with the same ease. She was totally unselfish and throughout her illness never complained. In fact, she was overly concerned that her illness brought distress and problems to others.

I can't adequately praise the marvelous ladies of the church in Rochester who attended to her every need. When she came home from the hospital for the last 9½ weeks before having to re-enter, the Rochester ladies organized a staff of servants who were with her every hour I was at the office or had to be out of town. They would arrive in the morning when I left and would stay until I returned in the evening. They lovingly cared for her even though she hesitated to allow them to do so until it was absolutely necessary. Many of the other women constantly brought food to the house over the entire period. God has a place for these great servants.

To hundreds of others, we as a family want to express thanks for your prayers, your concern, your letters, cards and your love. You have lightened the burden so much.

Let me close by saying this, however. We are not unique! Every couple either has or will face this same lonely experience. Each of us needs to realize and remember this fact.

Yours in Christ,

Milton B. Fletcher
President

Business Team profitable

Michigan Christian College took the Best Presentation Award and the overall Second Place Award in the college industry at the Second Annual Harding-Lomanco Invitational Business Games Conference.

The conference was held recently on the campus of Harding University with financial and technical sponsorship by the Louver Manufacturing Company (LOMANCO) of Jacksonville, Arkansas.

The members of the 1984 MCC Business Team, known as Tudor Electronics Company, were Deanna Burns from Oxford, Andrea Flatt from Clawson, Robert Losher from Troy, Mark Starling from Sterling Heights, Kim Hickey from Grand Ridge (Illinois) and Trish Stephens of Chicago (Illinois).

According to David R. Briggs, the team's sponsor, "The level of competition is rapidly rising, but we were able to improve our Presentation portion of the games as well as match the decision-making performance of MCC's previous team, which took first place last year."

TWENTY-THREE high school and junior college teams participated in the event coordinated and directed by David Johnson, assistant professor of accounting at HU.

"The benefit of the games," Mr. Johnson said, "is that the students learn the complexity of business decisions and that a competitor's decisions affect them."

In the business simulation games, the five- or six-member teams are divided into four divisions called industries. Beginning in September, each team makes a series of 22 decisions and each week represents the operational decisions of three months for a calculator manufacturer.

THE STUDENTS make decisions concerning the level of production, plant capacity, price, wages and marketing strategy. Each week their decisions are telephoned in to the Business School at Harding.

All the figures are fed into a computer which has been programmed to simulate realistic market conditions. Based on the market and how it reacts to the decisions of all the student companies, the computer feeds out information showing profit margins, market share and other pertinent items for each student company.

The computer-generated financial statements and operations reports are mailed out the same day. Each student team examines the results of each decision and prepares for the next decision. In all, eight decisions are turned in, representing two years of production.

In mid-November the teams come to Harding to make final presentations to a panel of judges. Each team makes a professional presentation with charts, graphs or other visuals and explains the strategy behind the decisions that were made.

THE TEAMS seek to show both how well their company did and that they know why. The winners in presentation and in industry results are awarded plaques at the awards banquet. Also, an overall winner in the junior college and ACT scores: 21-24, $400 per year; 25-28, $600 per year; and 29-36, $800 per year. ACT Scholarships are renewable after the first year of college if a student maintains sufficient grades at MCC.

In addition to the above changes in scholarship levels, a new scholarship program is being introduced in the fall. A full-tuition Presidential Academic Scholarship is being offered to students with both a 3.80 grade point average in high school and a 30 or above on the ACT. This scholarship is renewable after a student's first year at MCC if the recipient achieves at least a 3.80 grade average on a minimum of 32 credit hours. This scholarship will be worth over $2,500 per year.

Students may choose between an Academic, ACT, or Presidential Academic Scholarship, but may not receive more than one of these scholarships. Although there are limitations on other types of college-sponsored aid that scholarship recipients may receive, they may apply for any federal or state aid.

Group from MCC participates in World Mission Workshop

A record registration of 1,232 at the World Mission Workshop held October 25-28 on the campus of Oklahoma Christian College included nine students and one teacher from Michigan Christian College.

Making the 2,200 mile round trip were students Karla Bergdahl, Greg Campbell, Lisa Gilbert, Betty Gray, David Henderson, James Isenberg, Carson Mathis, Tena Sue Rojcem and Kim Rossell. Accompanying them was Coy Roper, Bible teacher at MCC.

During the workshop, Mr. Roper taught a class titled "Training National Leaders" and served as a representative of the work in Australia in the "Meet a Missionary" segment of the program.

The workshop, which has been conducted annually for the past 25 years on a Christian college campus, is designed to motivate college students to greater interest in mission work. Registrants included students from most of the Christian colleges and from several schools of preaching, as well as other Christians from the Oklahoma area.

THOSE WHO attended had the opportunity to hear theme speeches challenging Christians to be "the aroma of Christ" (II Corinthians 2:14, 15), to see visual presentations about the need for missionaries on every inhabited continent, to attend classes about every facet of mission work and to meet with missionaries from all over the world.

One impressive part of the program involved a flag ceremony, featuring the presentation of flags of forty countries which have not yet been entered by missionaries from Churches of Christ. MCC students Greg Campbell, Lisa Gilbert and Carson Mathis carried flags in this ceremony.

ALTHOUGH the trip was long and tiring, since the group drove all night both coming and going, the students enjoyed the week and felt they benefited from the experience.

"The workshop made me aware that I wasn't the only person my age to have a desire to depart from the American lifestyle ... and live ... on a foreign field for the sake of serving people both spiritually and physically," said James Isenberg, a freshman from Allen Park.

Carson Mathis, a Bible major from Detroit, said: "I never knew the gospel hasn't been preached in forty nations; I really believe that the gospel should be preached to everyone and it should be our goal to reach out to the forty nations."

"Going to OCC reminded me again of how truly blessed I am. There are millions of people living in countries that have never heard the name of Jesus," Lisa Gilbert, a sophomore from Caro, added.

Giving blood in the October 23 drive is Jim Calkin, a sophomore from East Peoria, Illinois.

It doesn't hurt

Fe, Fi, Fo, Fum.
I want the blood of everyone.
Be ye white or be ye black,
Don't worry — it'll come back!

Coach Bill Shinsky's bit of home-spun poetry didn't quite persuade enough people to give to break MCC's school record of 113 pints, but it did encourage 77 brave souls to donate blood in the October 23 drive.

"If you see the Wiz out there anywhere, bring him on in. We sure have lots of scardy-cats in here who could use some of his magic," said one of the Red Cross nurses, referring to the many first-time donors who were not exactly sure what to expect.

Most who gave were pleasantly surprised that the experience was not as frightening as they had anticipated.

"It wasn't so bad," freshman Ken Jamison said. "I got cookies, too!"

Freshman Dawn Malinky actually liked the experience. She has given blood so many times that she is beginning to feel like a pro. "It'll be a gallon the next time I give," she said.

Though freshman Tom Wells' donation was not painful, it was a bit harrowing. "The nurse spilled blood on me. There was a whole pool of it and it ruined my white shirt. And yes, it was my blood," he said. He went on to say that he had given before, however, and thinks it is a real good cause. "Most of the nurses are competent," he added.

Bloodmobiles have been on the campus of MCC since February 1971 when 20 pints of blood were donated. To date, 1,376 pints have been donated to MCC's blood bank.

Beginning in the fall of 1980, MCC started having two drives a year. The next drive on the campus in Rochester will be Tuesday, February 26, 1985, from 1-7 p.m. in the chapel area.

Mission Emphasis Campaigns a success

The two Mission Emphasis Bible School Campaigns announced in the fall bulletin were completed with much success.

On October 12-14, MCC students made the first journey to Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, to do door knocking work for another team which would be coming the following weekend.

From that effort, many children expressed interest in attending the "Saturday with a Friend" on October 20. MCC freshman Robin Stephens echoed the feelings of the other workers when she said, "I will never forget the Advance Team (A-team) weekend as long as I live."

Then, with posters, visual aids and balloons in hand, a second group of 15 rode the van to Sault Sainte Marie for the October 20 Super Saturday Bible School.

THE TURNOUT was great. Forty-five children attended, including 35 who were community children who had no previous contact with the church.

weekends. As a result of Saturday with a Friend, one three-year-old girl is now attending services along with her two sisters and her mother.

With the first campaign behind them, the Mission Emphasis group began directing its efforts and prayers toward Corunna, Michigan. The A-team visited Corunna on November 10, and the Bible Team (B-team) made the trip November 17.

THIS ACTIVITY was also fruitful in that 45 kindergarten through sixth grade children were taught about Jesus being their best friend.

In the evening, MCC students Tim Tostige and Darren Maggard presented short lessons in a one-night gospel meeting, with Doug Molette leading singing. The meeting was enhanced by children who had attended Saturday's program, singing for their parents.

A high school senior from Corunna may have best expressed the benefits of the program when he wrote: "I wish to thank Doug and Jim and the rest of the students, for through watching them I have realized that the only true happiness and contentment of heart is through Christ."

TEACHER FEATURE:

Mr. Buchanan directs choruses

It was natural that little four-year-old Eddy grow up to become MCC's music instructor. His father was a minister and on Wednesday evenings would get him up in front of the congregation and have him lead singing.

"I could read the time signature for the music and be able to use the right conductor's hand movements when I was four," Mr. Buchanan said.

His interest in music led to a music major in college and to marriage also. While at Eastern Washington State University, Mr. Buchanan met Deb, another music major who was to later become his wife.

Deb was not a Christian when they met, but after studying with Mr. Buchanan and then attending worship services with him, she was baptized.

Mr. Buchanan transferred from Eastern Washington State to Columbia Christian and went to school for another year and a half before his wife Deb became pregnant. He worked in a bank for 2½ years and then went back to Columbia to get his degree.

"This is to tell everybody not to ever get married in college. It's a pain," he said.

Mr. Buchanan is very proud of his family, however, and wouldn't trade them for the world. "You really ought to interview Deb," he said. "She's more interesting than I am. I just work."

TODAY DEB is the office manager for an architectural firm. She is also an accomplished pianist and accompanies Mr. Buchanan at his recitals. The Buchanans' daughter Karla turned four in July and is a well-behaved, loving little girl. She attended a Montessori school when she was three and is very bright.

Before he graduated from Columbia Christian in July 1984, Mr. Buchanan was honored by the faculty and administration of Columbia as the 1984 recipient of the President's Award. "I think the only reason they gave it to me was because I got a job here," Mr. Buchanan joked.

Actually, his choral arrangements have been performed throughout the West by Columbia's Concert Choir and other select groups. While at Columbia he also worked part time as a music teacher at Gresham Union High School in Gresham, Oregon, where he taught a jazz vocal group and worked with the other school choruses.

Mr. Buchanan feels that the Christian colleges in the country are some of the innovators in doing unaccompanied contemporary Christian music today.

"THE REASON that we have to do arrangements for smaller groups is that we do a cappella music," he said. "Contemporary music has all the drums and musical instruments and it has to be rearranged without instrument. There just is not a market for music like that," he says in explanation for his extensive work in music arrangement.

At MCC, Mr. Buchanan is trying to gear the music that Autumn and the chorus sings more toward the type of audience for which they perform.

"When we go to an audience that wants to hear more of the traditional hymns, we try to please them; and if we know we have a more academic type of audience, we try to do more of the serious literature. We have a wide enough variety that we can please just about anybody we sing for.

"We, as a group, are not singing for ourselves and are not just doing music that we like," he added. "We are trying to please other people and want to fulfill their desires."

Leading singing during chapel is Mr. Ed Buchanan.

Drama troupe begins season

Company, MCC's traveling drama troupe, officially opened its first season on November 9 and 10 with its performances for Junior-Senior Weekend.

The 12-member drama troupe has three plays in its repertoire. The first is The Prince Who Wouldn't Talk, which appeals to a young audience. The second, That Was No Lady, That Was a Private Eye, is aimed toward high school audiences. The third, Box and Cox, is for those at college level and beyond. With such a variety of productions, Company hopes to be able to reach all audiences.

Director Gale Edwards is assisted by admissions counselor Terry McClure and Paul Carpenter, who is also a performer.

Sophomore members are Glenda Boyd from Wyandotte; Russ Burrough from Edmund, Oklahoma; and Paul Carpenter from Ravenna, Ohio. Paul is an upperclassman in MCC's Bible program and serves as the student director in Company.

Company also includes nine freshmen: Dan Boren, a Lockett Christian Academy graduate from Woodhaven; Kim Davidson, Claypool, Indiana; Lori Girdley, Ortonville; Lee Ann Gobbell, Toledo, Ohio; Karla Henson, Flint; James Isenberg, Melvindale; Tracy Johnson, Auburn Hills; Shannon Roper, also a Lockett graduate, from Sterling Heights; and Candace Washburn, Westland.

Company members not only serve as performers but also as the stage crew. They take care of the props and do the make-up for each play.

As the group becomes more well known, requests for their performances are becoming more numerous.

"In Admissions, we feel this will be another way to represent MCC at youth programs and Christian schools throughout the Midwest, in addition to offering more opportunities in drama for prospective and current students," said Mr. Larry Stewart, Director of Admissions at MCC.

Miss Edwards expressed hope that much good would come from Company's existence as the troupe strives to show "children of all ages" the love of God in a unique and fulfilling way.

MCC History available

People, places and events fill the Silver Anniversary Booklet, a history of Michigan Christian College.

The 48-page document, with an 8½-by-11-inch page size, features a photo history of 156 pictures in addition to the written history.

The first section of the book traces the major events of each year from the founding of the Board in 1954 through the events of the 1983 academic year.

Sections include a history of the campus, annual traditions such as registration, Fall Festival, the lectureships, Homecoming and banquets, as well as annual activities like chorus, basketball and drama.

The final section includes detailed lists of such items as the administration, student leadership, college financing and the work of the Associates and Men's Club.

Get ready to run in the college's 2nd Jog-O-Thon

The Men's Club of Michigan Christian College is planning its second Jog-O-Thon.

The event is scheduled for February 16 at the Macomb Community College field house, the same indoor track that was used for the previous jog.

Again this year, participants will be asked to turn in the names and addresses of 25 potential sponsors. The participants will fill out the sponsor forms that will be provided. After doing this, all each "runner" needs to do is be at the track on that Saturday.

The Men's Club is soliciting help from the Associates of MCC, the student body, faculty and staff at the college, and from within its own membership.

This year's event will be the largest fund-raising effort conducted by the club thus far.

"Everyone seemed to have such a great time at the last jog. We feel confident that we will have no problem getting the 375 runners needed to reach this year's goal. In fact, since we don't want to overcrowd the track, we may have to let people participate on a first-come, first-serve basis," said Duane Harrison, Men's Club coordinator for the event. "We will do everything we can do to get everyone who wants to participate in the fun on the track."

The last time the Men's Club conducted this event they raised almost $20,000 for MCC. This year, plans are to exceed $25,000.

"We have been able to do a lot of streamlining and cost cutting. Hopefully this will pay off with more money contributed to the college," Mr. Harrison said.

The money raised during the Jog-O-Thon is earmarked for the computer program and other necessities of the college.

Unlike the previous event, this year's participants will be running only for Michigan Christian. The last time this was done, two organizations benefited: Luckett Christian Academy and MCC.

"Since Luckett has decided not to participate this year, we can accommodate a few more runners," Mr. Harrison said. "Overall, we look forward to a fantastic hour of fund raising."

Several Men's Club members will be contacting people in the area, handing out sponsor packets, soliciting participants, and helping put the event together.

During the Lunch with Santa puppet show, tiny visitors thrill with the simple joy of a sticky candy cane.

Gift-A-Rama nets $5,000

"Do you know 'Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer'?"

"Yeaaaaah!!!"

"Then let's sing it so Santa will know whose house to send Rudolph to!"

Sixty-eight excited little cherubs then joined Mr. Charles Babb from the Lake Orion Church of Christ and his wife Teresa as they brought their puppet show to an end and wished the little ones a Merry Christmas.

The Babb's puppet show and sing-along were just a small part of the Lunch with Santa which took place during the Associates December 1 Gift-A-Rama. The luncheon is provided by the Rochester Chapter of the Associates each year.

During the luncheon, children were given the opportunity to sit on Santa Bill Lytle's lap and have their pictures taken and were led in several games and activities. This allowed mothers and fathers the opportunity to shop unhampered.

Available for the shoppers were hundreds of gifts from Christmas ornaments to baked goods to crafts for the home.

Mrs. Ruby Bowman and her daughter Mrs. Brenda Watterworth from the Gateway Chapter were selling their handmade porcelain dolls.

"We start them from scratch by pouring them," Mrs. Bowman said. Bodies are sewn, clothes are made, and teeth are even painted on each doll.

Though Mrs. Betty Loshier from the Rochester Chapter was not well enough to attend the Gift-A-Rama, her husband Ron came to sell Mrs. Loshier's hand-painted porcelain. Some of Mrs. Loshier's artwork, such as her flower-covered teapots, sell for as much as $100 each.

Mrs. Nan Alexander from the Ypsilanti Chapter was busy selling plaques that her son-in-law Jacques Wells had made. On the plaques were sayings written in calligraphy such as the one bought by an MCC student for history instructor Mr. Leo Hindsley: "It's too bad that the people who really know how to run the country are busy teaching school."

Teddy bears were a popular item at the Gift-A-Rama. The ladies from Lincoln Park were selling long white night shirts, each with an applique on the front showing a teddy bear holding a fistful of red balloons. Fuzzy teddy bears were on sale by the Livonia ladies along with hand-crocheted afghans and beautiful pine cone wreaths. And teddy bears sat among the sculptured dolls and clowns made by Mrs. Sharyn Underwood from Birmingham.

"I get up at 5:15 and leave by 9 every day, but I spend every spare moment before I leave and after I get home at night making crafts," Mrs. Underwood said. "I was still sewing outfits last night at 10:00."

Such dedication is characteristic of all the Associates as their profits demonstrate. Profits from the Gift-A-Rama alone exceed $5,000, according to Gift-A-Rama chairman Mary Etta Stowe of the Lincoln Park chapter.

"If we reach our goal of $129,000 by the end of our fiscal year in May, we will have made two million dollars for MCC in our 26 years of service," Mrs. Maxine Foster, assistant treasurer, said.

high school industries receives a trophy.

"The Business Games represent a tremendous opportunity for these young people," Lomanco President Paul Belden said. "It is hard for young people to make career decisions before they know what the career choices really involve. The games introduce them to all aspects of business, from production to marketing, and it is a chance for them to get a real feel for what the business world is all about."

"By participating in these games, MCC provides a practical and strategic integration of theoretical business and economic concepts learned in the classroom," Coach Briggs said.

Students' input of value to SBA

Doug Mollette from Milan and Tom Truax from Lapeer are two special members of the Student Body Association. Doug represents the Bachelor of Religious Education (BRE) students while Tom represents MCC's commuter students.

Doug is a senior BRE student who will graduate in December 1985. He wants to be a minister in the Midwest but is going to go to Wayne State University first for a master's in social work.

"I'm going into social work for the sheer reason of getting more experience in counseling, but I'm then going into ministry full time," he said.

Doug thinks highly of the Joy Bus ministry of the Churches of Christ. "My sisters really got me going," he said. "One of them started going on the Joy Bus and then they got me going and pretty soon they got me involved."

Doug sees his position in the SBA as that of one who is a deciding voice on issues. "I try to sway things in the direction to help the BRE students," he said.

Tom Truax says his job is to "go to the SBA and Dr. Knight and give them all the complaints of the commuters to see if I can make their going to school here a little easier."

One of the results of Tom's input to the SBA was the installation of lockers for commuter students this year.

Tom is from Lapeer where his father was a deacon. His parents recently moved to Madison, Tennessee, and attend the Madison Church of Christ now.

Tom and Caron Jill Smythe will become a family on December 22 when they marry. Caron was the MCC commuter representative last year. She graduated from MCC's legal assistant's program and is now working in her field.

When Tom graduates, he will transfer to Oakland University to work in the medical technology program.

Freshmen officers have intriguing

The freshman class officers are four of the most interesting students on campus. Three have lived extensively in foreign countries, and the fourth has lived on his own for years.

"When I decided what I wanted, I gave up my nice apartment on the Detroit River to come up here," President Zachary Pope said. Zachary is older than most MCC students, 22, and had intended to spend his life working for the FBI. Brother Orum L. Trone, the minister at the Elmwood Church of Christ in Detroit, changed Zachary's mind, however.

He has attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo and has worked as an operative for E and B Research Associates. "There," Zachary said, "I was a case controller, served subpoenas, ran surveillances and pretext investigations."

Zachary was not a Christian then. It was his sister who started taking him to the Church of Christ where he met Brother Trone. "I enjoyed the way he preached the truth, and I started studying the Bible and decided what I wanted to do with my life," he said.

TODAY, Zachary is a Bible major and wants very much to be a minister. He felt that being president of the freshman class would help him in his ministry. "I wanted to gain leadership ability, get accustomed to dealing with people, learn group organization, and develop leadership skills."

Once Shannon Len Roper, the bundle of energy who serves as vice president of the freshman class, got started talking about life during her 10 years in Australia, it was hard to get her to stop.

WHEN ASKED what she remembered about Australia, her answer was a quick and definite "Crumpets!" She went on: "They're my favorite kind of food, and they have great Chinese food. We had to wear uniforms to school, and it got really hot at Christmastime. Once when I was little, a kangaroo knocked me down with its tail. I just cried. I wasn't even the one teasing the kangaroo, and it had the nerve to knock me down!"

Shannon did not slow down when asked what she liked best about MCC, either.

"I LIKE the people, I like my boyfriend, I like being with my dad. I really liked being in the fall play even though I played a psychotic who killed her ex-boyfriend. A rich snob I was supposed to be."

Shannon's boyfriend is MCC freshman Dan Boren, a fellow classmate of Shannon's at Lockett Christian Academy. Her dad, of course, is Mr. Coy Roper, a Bible instructor on MCC's faculty.

Shannon is also a student in MCC's Honor's Program and works at the Showcase Cinema when she is not studying or practicing for Company's 1984-85 Sophomore Class Officers: Wendy Walling, president; Lynn Howe, secretary; and Melvyn Long, vice president. Not pictured — Brian Hoggatt, treasurer.

MCC lives up to expectations

Sophomores love Christian atmosphere

All four sophomore officers agreed that the atmosphere of love on the campus of MCC is what helped draw them to the college and feel that the spirituality that is encouraged at MCC is vital in today's society.

"I wanted to further my education and also grow with Christ at the same time, and I didn't think I could do that at a public college," President Wendy Walling said.

Wendy is from Capac and when she was young, she lived about 18 miles from the church. When her neighbor's babysitter started taking the children on the block to the Vacation Bible School during the summertime, the men from the congregation decided to start sending a van out to pick up the children. The minister from Romeo, Mr. John DiMarzio, then began studying with Wendy and her mother; and as a result, Wendy was baptized when she was 11.

Being president of the sophomore class is important to Wendy. It has allowed her to have a leadership role in planning student activities and has helped her get to know the students well. "I think it is really a waste to just get to know people on the surface," she said.

Wendy is a fashion merchandising major at MCC and will transfer to Harding University in the fall to study interior design. When she is not busy studying or working as an officer, Wendy plays the guitar or spends her time outdoors.

"I love it here," she said. "I spend the majority of my time outside on this campus. It is even pretty in the wintertime."

VICE PRESIDENT Melvyn Long, from Ypsilanti, said he came to MCC because of "the Christian atmosphere and the love that was around the college." Mel's father Opie and brother Mike are both deacons at the Ypsilanti Church of Christ, and Mel has a strong Christian background.

He was impressed when the chorus and Autumn performed for the Ypsilanti congregation.

"It was their last performance of the year, and I watched when they were all out in the foyer and were crying and hugging and carrying on," he said. "I realized they must have been really close, and that was when I decided for sure that I was coming to MCC."

Mel spends his spare time playing sports. He came to MCC on a baseball scholarship and was the catcher for the MCC Warriors both this year and last. He is also the manager for the basketball team this year.

Naturally, physical education is Mel's major. He plans to become a teacher and says he does not care whether he ends up in elementary or high school as long as he is teaching sports to children.

TREASURER Brian Hoggatt, from LaGrange, Indiana, also has a strong Christian family. His father is an elder in LaGrange, and Brian is the fifth of five children in the family to attend MCC. His brother Kent is MCC's Financial Aid Director.

Brian is a busy man. "I only have 3½ hours of free time a week," he says in all seriousness.

He is majoring in computer information systems and plans to transfer to David Lipscomb next year because the school recently built a new computer lab and science building.

BESIDES working as treasurer, Brian is taking a 19-hour class load and is working in the business office 10 hours a week. He somehow finds time to study Greek because he is interested in Biblical languages and plans to also study Hebrew at Lipscomb.

Brian came to MCC on the three-two plan, a plan which enables a student to skip his senior year of high school to begin college. He is glad he did and says, "I had too much fun here last year to feel that I missed anything in high school."

Like Brian, Secretary Lynn Howe from Dayton, Ohio, also has a job on campus. She is the resident assistant in the Campus Center dorm.

"MY JOB AS R.A. is to be there for the girls on my floor," she said. "If they have a problem, they can come to me; and if I can't help them, then we go to the dorm supervisor." Her job also involves paperwork for sick days, room checks, and planning of dorm parties.

Lynn is also a chorus member at MCC and is a Sunday school teacher at the Lake Orion Church of Christ.

Even though Lynn says she spends most of her time doing "homework, and more homework, and more homework," she says she is thankful for MCC and "wouldn't trade the experiences I've had here for the world."

Lynn came to MCC, she said, "Because I was attracted to the closeness and the spirituality of the school." She plans to continue her child psychology major at another Christian school, Harding University, next fall. When she graduates, she hopes to work as an elementary school counselor.

next play, The Prince Who Wouldn't
Walk. She loves doing all three.

"In our Honors English class we made a field trip to a prosthetic-making company and we got to see them make artificial limbs," she said. "And I like my job at the Showcase Cinema — I get to see free movies and get to eat free popcorn!"

Like Shannon, Treasurer Mark Starling also has a father who is a teacher. Mr. Starling was once a missionary in New Zealand, so Mark lived there four years. He has also lived in Texas, Florida and Ohio. Mark's mother is now the preacher at the Utica Church of Christ.

MARK SAYS he has enjoyed being treasurer this semester because he likes doing things for people. "I like to help organize things so people can enjoy themselves," he added. His term in office will end in December 1984, however, because he is a second semester freshman now.

Practicing for Autumn, MCC's vocal group, and studying for his business classes keeps Mark busy. He plans to transfer to Harding after his sophomore year and eventually hopes to work in hotel management "or something like that."

Freshman Secretary Frances Martinez has only been back from Ghana, Africa, for a little over a year. Her family went there as missionaries for a year and a half, and it was an experience Frances will never forget.

"Being over there made our whole family realize how blessed we are here. Now we appreciate the things we get more than we did before," she said.

LIFE WAS very different for Francie and her family. In the school Francie attended, there were only 12 Americans. The rest of the students were of different nationalities. "It was a British school, and I was two years behind in the sciences," she said. She also remembers 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfews which were in effect because of the attempted coups.

Francie enjoys playing basketball and played for two years while she was at Luckett Christian Academy. She still goes down and plays in the gym at MCC in her free time.

When she leaves MCC, Francie plans to transfer to Oklahoma Christian College to major in computer science.

Capable officers lead SBA

A group of dynamic students with a wide variety of backgrounds forms the backbone of MCC's student governing body.

The fourteen who are responsible for the organization of activities and projects for the student body include the Executive Council, the sophomore class officers, the freshman class officers, one Bible major representative and one commuter student representative.

While the class officers' duties are specifically geared to running activities for their classes, they are also a part of the SBA. The SBA Executive Council officers help oversee them and are considered the guiding group.

Wanting to serve others seems to be the tie that binds all the officers together.

SBA PRESIDENT Rob Loshier has gained the respect of his fellow students for his leadership qualities.

"I wanted to be involved in organizing activities and hopefully in making a difference," he said. "It's one of the best ways, and an enjoyable way, of serving someone else."

Tim Pittmann, the SBA vice president, said about Rob: "He's set an excellent example. This man actually goes out of his way to make sure that each person's suggestion gets thought about and talked about to see if it's a good suggestion and to see what can be done about it."

Rob's parents have set a good example for him in the service of others. Mr. Ron Loshier is a deacon in the Rochester Church of Christ, and his mother, a talented artist, sells hand-painted porcelain for the benefit of the Associates of MCC.

Rob is an accounting major and has been on the MCC Business Team for the past two years. He plans to transfer to Harding University in the fall.

TIM PITTMANN also plans to transfer to Harding to study in the computer science program. He is from the Meadowdale Church of Christ in Dayton, Ohio.

"I came to MCC through the influence of the A Cappella Chorus which was in Dayton a lot," Tim said. "They just told me how neat the school was."

Tim has one special interest — "besides females," he said — that has earned him a bit of spending money. He loves to draw, sketch and doodle and has sold his sketches of horses and Pegasus.

The Lord comes first in Trudy Lynn Fair's life. Trudy, the SBA secretary, is learning sign language so that she may someday help the deaf learn more about Christ and is also looking forward to working both with Christian women's groups and with youth groups.

"I'm interested in being a strong Christian, and am looking forward to growing as a Christian woman," Trudy said. "I don't yet know what the Lord plans for me."

TRUDY DOES have marriage plans in her immediate future. On June 8 she will marry Darrel Ashby from Waterford, whom she met at a University Drive Church of Christ-sponsored youth activity.

At MCC, Trudy works to get people involved in campus activities. "I really want to encourage people to come to the activities. It's for their benefit and hope that for the rest of the year, we can get enthusiastic involvement."

Trudy has enjoyed traveling with her parents and five sisters. Because her father worked for the army as a civil engineer, he had many opportunities to live in other countries. Thus Trudy has been fortunate enough to live in Japan for three years and in Germany for two. She has also visited 15 other European countries.

When not working for the church or the college, Trudy paints and sews and works with ceramics.

She will graduate in May with an Associate of Applied Science Degree and plans to work in the computer field for a company which will help her continue her education.

THE FOURTH member of the SBA Executive Council is treasurer Mark Hammitt from Flint. Mark is a Bible and a business major and plans to transfer to Harding University next fall. Since his mother is a secretary at Valley Christian Academy in Flint, and his three brothers are all students in the same Christian school, it was natural that Mark attend a Christian college.

"Another reason I wanted to go to MCC is that I went to a big school — Grand Blanc has 2,500 students — and I wanted to go to a small school for a new experience. I love how close the kids are here," Mark said.

Warriors winning

The 1984-85 Warriors have picked up where the 1983-84 Warriors left off.

Last year's team completed the most successful season in MCC's history, finishing 25-5 and placing second in the nation. This year's Warriors are off to a 9-1 start.

The Warriors are once again led by a balanced scoring attack. Iantham Allayne, Dave Lyerla, Marvin Mathis and Greg Spraggins are all averaging double figures a game. Tim Morton, captain, rounds out the starting lineup.

Home games will be held at Oakland University on January 14 at 5 p.m.; January 18 at 7:30 p.m.; and January 25 at 7:30 p.m. The first February home game will be at 2:30 p.m. on the second.

MCC's freshman honors class conducts handicap experiment

The freshman honors composition class conducted an unusual study on MCC campus this semester.

Each student in the class was required to spend 24 hours on November 24 with a simulated handicap. Some students were confined to wheelchairs, some wore glasses which partially impaired vision, and some walked only with walkers or quad canes.

The purpose of the study was to evaluate the campus for its accessibility to disabled students.

Class members participated in several research and writing projects concerned with handicaps before conducting the study.

In October, the students toured Wright-Filippis Rehabilitation Resource Center in Rochester Hills, the fourth largest manufacturer of prostheses in the world. Students also met with the director of services for the disabled for North Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department.

Even the traditional freshman term paper helped to build background for the study. Each student's paper concerned a specific handicap or some area of rehabilitative services for the disabled.

The hands-on experience of the simulation was enlightening in a way that library research alone could not be. The students agreed that they came away from the study with a new appreciation of the problems of disabled people.

"At first it was fun to use the wheelchair," Tina Gossman said, "but later it became so tedious. Even getting a book in the library was hard work because I couldn't reach the shelves."

"I hated how long it took me to get to class," Dawn Bradley said. "Using the quad canes made it really difficult to carry my books, too."

The members of the class have completed a report to President Fletcher on the study as their final writing project in the class. They hope their report will assist the college in making the campus as barrier-free as possible for future handicapped students. But the greatest benefit, they felt, was what they learned from the experience.

"I have more respect for the courage of handicapped people," Brad Pitts said, "and for their patience. I don't know if I could be as cheerful in their shoes."

Other class members who participated were Cheryl Batten, Matt Bugg, Linda Clayton, Jeff McMillen, Shannon Roper, and Alisa Wilson.

Baseball season ends

by Paul McBride

As autumn rolled in, the Michigan Christian College baseball team began its fall schedule. Because of inconsistency and injuries, the season seemed like a roller coaster ride.

After beginning the season with two disappointing losses at Concordia College, the Warriors bounced back to take three out of four contests in a round-robin tourney at Great Lakes Bible College.

The first game featured a strong hitting attack that racked Lincoln Christian College of Illinois for 15 runs in a five-inning mercy. Luther Maxwell dominated by striking out six batters in four innings of work before leaving with a sore arm.

Ron Duguay overpowered Great Lakes Bible in the second game and led the Warriors to their second victory.

DESPITE AN excellent pitching performance by Dan Boren, MCC dropped the third game of the season in extra innings to Lincoln Christian before bouncing back to beat Great Lakes Bible College behind the superb pitching of Mike Thomas.

With spirits high, MCC traveled back to Lansing to take on GLBC in a double-header.

The first game featured an eight-inning, sixteen-strike-out pitching performance by Paul McBride with the Warriors winning by a run. The second game was lost in extra innings to drop the overall record to 4-4.

THE WARRIORS reached their peak in a double-header at home against Great Lakes Bible College. MCC pulverized GLBC 10-1 in a five-inning game which featured a one-hit pitching performance by Paul McBride.

After falling far behind in the second game, MCC stormed back behind the hitting of Ron Duguay, Marty Phillips and Larry Marsh. McBride entered the game in the third inning and pitched well enough to hold the game within reach until, with no outs in the ninth inning, Larry Marsh crushed a long home run to win the game.

Before the Warriors could enjoy their ride to the top, the roller coaster raced down as they dropped the final four games of the season to complete the down, up, and back down again season.

COACH Bill Shinsky's squad boasted four strong starting pitchers who combined for all six of the team's victories.

Ron Duguay was the pitcher with the top ERA at 2.71 a game.

Paul McBride led the team in wins with a 3-0 record and in strike outs (36 in 22 innings). McBride was second in ERA with a 2.86 mark.

Following closely behind were Mike Thomas (2.92) and Luther Maxwell (3.23).

The MCC hitting attack was led by slugging leader Larry Marsh and production leader Mike Thomas.
